

ALEX THA GREAT

LITERARY/SPOKEN WORD

Performances

Alex Tha Great has an extensive background of performing poetry for varied audiences. Her poems cover range of topics dealing with her real-world experiences from an intersectional lens of being black, woman, mother, and working class. Her multi-dimensional identities combine a unique blend of storytelling, humor, audience engagement, personal testimony, and social commentary exploring themes of love, loss, religion, self-esteem, black culture, feminism, and more.

Workshops

Alex Tha Great offers writing workshops that allow participants to explore brainstorming exercises, poem analysis, scaffolding, and drafting exercises focused on drawing out depth of emotion and building on individual personal stories. The workshops focus on themes allowing participants to explore questions of identity, and it draws from participants questions combined with community dialogue.

Participants age 12 and up